COURT FAVORS LIQUOR TRIAL WITHOUT JURY

Constitutional Lawyers Say Decision Is History-making—Aids Wickersham.

WASHINGTON, April 15—Characterized by constitutional lawyers as a history-making decision, the supreme court's ruling that jury trials may be waived in all cases may start a new drive for the Wickersham crime commission's so-called "juryless trial" plan of speeding prohibition cases, it appeared today.

The high court's decision came as the house judiciary committee was reported about to bury the Wickersham court reform program and create new federal judgeships instead.

CLOSELY WATCHED
The case has been closely watched by congressional constitutional authorities, many of whom were surprised by the court's decision.

Although Chairman Wickersham of the crime commission had contended before the house judiciary committee that the court had already provided that jury trials could be waived in petty cases, opponents of the program questioned his interpretation of the high court's ruling.

The decision of Justice Sutherland in the case of three Oklahomans convicted of conspiracy to bribe a prohibition officer by a jury of eleven men they consenting to it, and sentenced to eight years of imprisonment, apparently left no doubt of the legality of the principle of the Wickersham program.

Justice Sutherland pointed out that the court had specifically permitted waiver of jury trials in petty cases and in yesterday's decision extended the principle to embrace the most serious federal crimes.

One part of the decision was construed in some quarters as placing doubt upon the Wickersham Commission Plan.

QUOTES DECISION
Quoting a previous decision of the Court, Justice Sutherland said any law which "destroys the substantial and essential feature" of the right of jury trial, is invalid.

The Wickersham Commission Plan, it was pointed out, placed a club in the hands of district attorneys to force accused persons to waive jury trials by permitting them to indict them under the Jones "Five and Ten Law" if they appealed from a court commission to a jury.

This method of coercion, it is contended, is an attack upon the basis of the right of jury trial.

The court's decision, as pointed out by Justice Sutherland, marks another milestone in changing views toward jury trials since they were established in the Common Law Courts of England.

Fifty-two counts were listed in the indictment which charged forgery in connection with his handling of the county highway funds.

The three county commissioners, L. I. Frazier, a trucking contractor and Harry Moon, a Clark township trustee, were also indicted on various charges in connection with the alleged road building and repairing swindle.

PENSION LAW IS DISCUSSED BY SPEAKER

Hobart W. Scott of Cincinnati, Delivers Fine Address To Eagles Lodge.

The effort to establish the old age pension law in Ohio was discussed at a special meeting of Circleville Fraternal Order of Eagles in the Eagle Hall Monday evening by Hobart W. Scott of Cincinnati, who is on a tour of the state under the auspices of the Ohio Old Age Pension commission of the Eagles lodge.

"Old age pensions are not a new untried proposal. It has been in operation for 50 years in Denmark and has been established in all the industrial countries of Europe. Eleven of the 48 United States now have old age pension laws. New York recently passed the old age pension bill and Gov. Roosevelt has signed it."

"Old age pensions prove in practice to be the best method yet devised to provide for dependent aged citizens," stated Mr. Scott. "Not only is a pension a more humane manner of providing for the aged but it is also found to be a cheaper method. It costs the taxpayers of Ohio nearly three millions of dollars last year to maintain its 88 poor-houses and it is estimated that two-thirds of this sum, goes for administrative expenses," the speaker declared.

"In addition to this the people of Ohio provide pensions for a considerable number of citizens. Among these may be cited, policemen, firemen, teachers, soldiers, municipal employees and many others. Modern industrial conditions render it difficult for large numbers of citizens to save for old age. An old age pension in Ohio would be a system of co-operative insurance protecting all citizens against the worst aspects of possible dependent old age."

The Ohio State Federation of Labor and the Ohio Council of Churches is also working for the bill. The Old Age Pension committee of the Circleville Eagles is composed of E. E. McClarren, E. F. Hoffman and F. B. Wiggins.

THOMPSON CALLS CHRISTIAN UNITY MOVEMENT GREATEST

"The greatest religious movement in the world today is the Christian Unity movement among protestant church groups," said Rev. W. H. Thompson of Columbus, field representative of the Ohio Council of Churches, in his address before the Kiwanis club at the Boggs Hotel Monday evening.

"Religious bigotry has not been confined solely to the relationship between Protestants and Roman Catholics and Jews but has characterized the relationships between Baptists and Campbellites, Methodists and Presbyterians, Reformed and United Brethren, and others in local communities the world over. As a result many communities are over-churches and financial and personal resources have been wasted in duplication of effort in an amazing fashion," stated Dr. Thompson.

"But now that status is rapidly changing to one good will and hearty cooperation. Plans are underway for mergers of several groups of denominations, such as Methodist, Presbyterian and Episcopal, Reformed, United Brethren and Evangelical Synod; Congregational and Christian and Baptists and Disciples. In small communities throughout Ohio more than 100 consolidations of local churches have taken place during the last 15 years."

Announcement was made of an all-county churchmen's fellowship supper to be held in Circleville, Thursday evening, May 8, at which the Christian Unity movement is to be discussed.

PRES. HOOVER ADVOCATE OF WORLD COURT

Dramatic Battle For American Adherence Looms Following D. A. R. Speech.

WASHINGTON, April 15—Another dramatic battle in the Senate over the question of American adherence to the World Court is impending.

All doubt about this was dispelled today as a result of President Hoover's speech to the Daughters of the American Revolution last night, in which he served notice that he planned to go through with his policy of making the United States a member of the Court—notwithstanding the Illinois primary, or the growing signs of Senate opposition.

Following the Illinois primary, in which the veteran Charles S. Deneen went down to defeat before Ruth McCormick for the republican senatorial nomination in a campaign that featured the Court issue, it had been reported that Mr. Hoover would allow the question to die a quiet death. The reports were erroneous. Mr. Hoover is going to battle with the Senate on the issue.

IS PRACTICABLE
"It (the Court) has been accepted by 90 percent of the civilized people of the earth," said Mr. Hoover. "It is established, and no other Court is practicable."

The setting in which Mr. Hoover chose to throw down the gauntlet to the Senate was in itself dramatic.

The Daughters of the American Revolution, recently sponsored a series of nation-wide radio addresses opposing American adherence to the Court. Among the speakers have been such outstanding foes of the Court as ex-Senator James A. Reed (D) of Missouri; Richard Washburn Child, former ambassador to Italy; ex-Senator George Wharton Pepper (R) of Pennsylvania, and others.

And only a few hours before the President spoke, The Daughters had listened to the keynote address of Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, the president general, which bristled with warnings against "entangling alliances" and pleas for American aloofness from the jealousies and rivalries of Europe.

The Court was not mentioned by name by the D. A. R. speakers, but few had any doubt concerning the subject alluded to.

NAMES PLATFORM
Into this setting stepped President Hoover with the announcement of his determination to go through with his program of having the Senate adhere to American membership. The Daughters listened with close attention and the atmosphere in Constitutional Hall was rather tense as Mr. Hoover outlined his policy.

America owes it to the world, the president said, to join the Court. It is part and parcel, he asserted, of the world's march toward the goal of universal peace and the settlement of international disputes without resort to war. In that march, he said, the United States could not get out of step.

"Because of our inherited ideals of humanity and liberty," he said, "because of our freedom from haunting fear, there rests upon the United States a moral and spiritual duty to undertake a part in securing the peace of the world."

The question of American adherence to the Court is not yet before the Senate but Mr. Hoover has declared that "at a convenient time" he will re-submit it on the basis of the Root-Hurst formula.

MISS YOUNG DIES IN MT. STERLING

POLICE HUNT GIRL SLAYER

Detectives Begin Man Hunt—Love Letters Found Among Belongings.

Washington, April 15—Detectives today began a man hunt for the murderer of Miss Mary Baker, 31, Navy Department employee, who was assaulted, shot three times and left to die Friday in a culvert within a stone's throw of where William Howard Taft lies buried in Arlington cemetery.

Love letters have been found containing endearing passages from several men. Armed with these commonwealths attorney W. C. Cloth of Arlington county, and Lieut. Edward Kelley, of Washington's homicide squad, started out in search of the senders. Among her admirers they expect to find the murderer.

Cloth, admitting that little progress had been made in the search for the yet unidentified slayer since the crime some time Friday night, said several pictures of men were found in Miss Baker's effects both in her desk at the Navy Department and at her home in Lynn Park.

The authorities are convinced that the girl friends of the dead girl are not telling everything they know regarding the latter's past life.

Miss Baker's funeral is to be held at Oak Grove Va., today at the little Episcopal church there of which her father is rector.

SARAH MARTINDALE WILL IS PROBATED

The last will and testament of Sarah E. Martindale of Scioto-twp. was admitted to probate.

GANDHI'S WAR BLAZES FORTH INTO VIOLENCE

Sikh's Join Hindu's In Protest—Sentence of Youthful Leader.

Calcutta, Bengal, April 15: The "civil disobedience" campaign of Mahatma Gandhi, which has been smouldering for weeks, blazed forth into violent fury today with a bloody demonstration in the streets of Calcutta.

After a heated skirmish during which stones and brickbats were hurled freely, a check-up showed that twenty-six persons had been wounded, some of them seriously.

EUROPEAN HURT
Among those taken to hospital was an unidentified European woman, severely cut and bruised when the rioters hurled stones through the windows of a street car.

It was the most serious riot since that in Bombay last week when five Indians were killed.

The outbreak occurred as part of a city-wide protest against the incarceration of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, president of the Indian National Congress, who was sentenced to six months' jail term for aiding Gandhi in his violation of the British Government's Salt Laws.

Mobs of enraged Indians attempted to paralyze the city by blocking traffic on all the principal streets. Street barricades were thrown up in the neighborhood of the famous Kali Temple, and trolley cars were seized and burned.

It was significant that among the demonstrators were many of Gandhi's supporters who have been recruited solely from the ranks, and the Sikh had maintained a wholly neutral attitude.

FIREMEN CALLED
All available police and firemen were called out to aid troops in quelling the disturbance. Detachments of armored cars rushed to the chief points of combat; immediately took the fight out of many of the rioters, but before the streets were cleared nineteen natives, six European firemen and the European woman had been taken to hospitals suffering from wounds.

Troops were forced to fire in to the mob when the Indians attacked street cars and automobiles containing Europeans. In addition to those taken to hospital, many are believed to have suffered minor gunshot wounds.

The bazaar quarter in the heart of the city was one of the local points of the demonstration. Here the rioters charged the police several times before they were driven back, leaving the street littered with stones, brickbats and their wounded.

Serious rioting also occurred in the northern part of the city. Armored cars bristling with machine guns and rifles patrolled the principal streets all afternoon.

Eight days is a mighty short time and before you know it the time will be counted by hours and minutes until the close. Even though the time is short it is sufficient for any candidate to get out and win. There are always some sprinters in a race of this kind who make a wonderful showing at the start but who, as the race nears the finish, get troubled with tired feet and slow down until the

PRES. HOOVER ADVOCATE OF WORLD COURT

Dramatic Battle For American Adherence Looms Following D. A. R. Speech.

WASHINGTON, April 15—Another dramatic battle in the Senate over the question of American adherence to the World Court is impending.

All doubt about this was dispelled today as a result of President Hoover's speech to the Daughters of the American Revolution last night, in which he served notice that he planned to go through with his policy of making the United States a member of the Court—notwithstanding the Illinois primary, or the growing signs of Senate opposition.

Following the Illinois primary, in which the veteran Charles S. Deneen went down to defeat before Ruth McCormick for the republican senatorial nomination in a campaign that featured the Court issue, it had been reported that Mr. Hoover would allow the question to die a quiet death. The reports were erroneous. Mr. Hoover is going to battle with the Senate on the issue.

IS PRACTICABLE
"It (the Court) has been accepted by 90 percent of the civilized people of the earth," said Mr. Hoover. "It is established, and no other Court is practicable."

The setting in which Mr. Hoover chose to throw down the gauntlet to the Senate was in itself dramatic.

The Daughters of the American Revolution recently sponsored a series of nation-wide radio addresses opposing American adherence to the Court. Among the speakers have been such outstanding foes of the Court as ex-Senator James A. Reed (D) of Missouri; Richard Washburn Child, former ambassador to Italy; ex-Senator George Wharton Pepper (R) of Pennsylvania, and others.

And only a few hours before the President spoke, The Daughters had listened to the keynote address of Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, the president general, which bristled with warnings against "entangling alliances" and pleas for American aloofness from the jealousies and rivalries of Europe.

The Court was not mentioned by name by the D. A. R. speakers, but few had any doubt concerning the subject alluded to.

NAMES PLATFORM

Into this setting stepped President Hoover with the announcement of his determination to go through with his program of having the Senate adhere to American membership. The Daughters listened with close attention and the atmosphere in Constitutional Hall was rather tense as Mr. Hoover outlined his policy.

America owes it to the world, the president said, to join the Court. It is part and parcel, he asserted, of the world's march toward the goal of universal peace and the settlement of international disputes without resort to war. In that march, he said, the United States could not get out of step.

"Because of our inherited ideals of humanity and liberty," he said, "because of our freedom from haunting fear, there rests upon the United States a moral and spiritual duty to undertake a part in securing the peace of the world."

The question of American adherence to the Court is not yet before the Senate, but Mr. Hoover has declared that "at a convenient time" he will re-submit it on the basis of the Root-Hurst formula.

POLICE HUNT GIRL SLAYER

Detectives Begin Man Hunt—Love Letters Found Among Belongings.

Washington, April 15—Detectives today began a man hunt for the murderer of Miss Mary Baker, 31, Navy Department employee, who was assaulted, shot three times and left to die Friday in a culvert within a stone's throw of where William Howard Taft lies buried in Arlington cemetery.

Love letters have been found containing endearing passages from several men. Armed with these commonwealths attorney W. C. Gloth, of Arlington county, and Lieut. Edward Kelley, of Washington's homicide squad, started out in search of the senders. Among her admirers they expect to find the murderer.

Gloth, admitting that little progress had been made in the search for the yet unidentified slayer since the crime some time Friday night, said several pictures of men were found in Miss Baker's effects both in her desk at the Navy Department and at her home in Lyon Park.

The authorities are convinced that the girl friends of the dead girl are not telling everything they know regarding the latter's past life.

Miss Baker's funeral is to be held at Oak Grove, Va., today at the little Episcopal Church there of which her father is rector.

GANDHI'S WAR BLAZES FORTH INTO VIOLENCE

Sikh's Join Hindu's In Protest—Sentence of Youthful Leader.

Calcutta, Bengal, April 15: The "civil disobedience" campaign of Mahatma Gandhi, which has been smouldering for weeks, blazed forth into violent fury today with a bloody demonstration in the streets of Calcutta.

After a heated skirmish during which stones and brickbats were hurled freely, a check-up showed that twenty-six persons had been wounded, some of them seriously.

EUROPEAN HURT
Among those taken to hospitals was an unidentified European woman, severely cut and bruised when the rioters hurled stones through the windows of a street car.

It was the most serious riot since that in Bombay last week when five Indians were killed.

The outbreak occurred as part of a city-wide protest against the incarceration of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, president of the Indian National Congress, who was sentenced to six months' jail term for aiding Gandhi in his violation of the British Government's Salt Laws.

Mobs of enraged Indians attempted to paralyze the city by blocking traffic on all the principal streets. Street barricades were thrown up in the neighborhood of the famous Kali Temple, and trolley cars were seized and burned.

It was significant that among the demonstrators were large number of sikhs. Up until now, Gandhi's supporters have been recruited solely from the Hindu ranks, and the sikhs had maintained a wholly neutral attitude.

FIREMEN CALLED

All available police and firemen were called out to aid troops in quelling the disturbance. Detachments of armored cars rushed to the chief points of combats, immediately took the fight out of many of the rioters, but before the streets were cleared nineteen natives, six European firemen and the European woman had been taken to hospitals suffering from wounds.

Troops were forced to fire into the mob when the Indians attacked street cars and automobiles containing Europeans. In addition to those taken to hospitals, many are believed to have suffered minor gunshot wounds.

The bazaar quarter in the heart of the city was one of the local points of the demonstration. Here the rioters charged the police several times before they were driven back, leaving the street littered with stones, brickbats and their wounded.

Serious rioting also occurred in the northern part of the city. Armored cars bristling with machine guns and rifles patrolled the principal streets all afternoon.

DE SONIA SENT TO MANSFIELD

Judge Yaple, of Chillicothe, Passes Judgment—Wife Sent From Here.

Tom DeSonia of Chillicothe and Dayton, husband of Roxey DeSonia, who was sentenced to serve from two to 20 years in Marysville reformatory after pleading guilty to a grand jury indictment of stealing an automobile here, was given an indeterminate sentence in Mansfield Reformatory as a parole violator by Common Pleas Judge Yaple in Chillicothe Monday.

DeSonia was placed on probation last October after he had been indicted and pleaded guilty to stealing the car of C. D. Thomas in Chillicothe. Last week he was arrested in Knoxville, Tenn., while trying to make a getaway in a car belonging to Charles Remy, Chillicothe.

PLANE HITS WIRE, 3 DIE

High Tension Transforms Airplane Into Huge Torch—One Badly Injured.

YPSILANTI, Mich., April 14—An airplane which settled in a network of high tension electric wires and was transformed into a huge torch today had brought the electrocution of three men and serious injury to a fourth.

Attempting a landing at the airport here late yesterday, the plane swung too low and crashed into the power transmission cables. Hanging suspended, it broke into flames.

The death list: Levi Keppler, 24, teller of an Ann Arbor bank; Willard Clawson, 60, retired farmer of Ypsilanti; Harry Walters, 28, Ypsilanti airport mechanic. Pilot Leon Hanselmann, 24, was thrown clear of the plane by the impact.

Keppler, the only passenger, was electrocuted when he tried to leap from the cockpit where he was held prisoner. Walters was killed outright when he applied a chemical fire extinguisher in an effort to free Keppler. The current followed the stream of liquid. Clawson was killed when he sought to draw Walters' body from the tangle of wire.

'AG' SCHOLARSHIP TEST NEXT FRIDAY

O. S. U. Offers Four Years Tuition to Best Farm Students in State

COLUMBUS, April 14—Twenty free scholarships with a value of $240 each, will be the prizes offered in the annual agriculture scholarship examinations to be held Friday, April 18, in high schools throughout Ohio. Girls as well as boys are eligible.

Winners of the scholarships will be entitled to tuition for a four-year course in agriculture at Ohio State university. The examinations are open to all seniors in the high schools of the state who will be graduated in June.

For the purpose of the examinations, the state is divided into four districts. Five scholarships will be awarded in each of the four districts.

Announcement of the winners of the scholarships is expected to be made about May 15. The scholarships were established by the university to interest high school graduates in the opportunities in agriculture as a profession.

Mrs. Clarence Grant of N. Scioto-st., who had an operation at Grant hospital, Columbus, two weeks ago, is showing improvement. It is expected that she may be able to return home the latter part of this week.

GROUP OF O. S. U. STUDENTS STRIKE AT FLAMING YOUTH

Columbus, O.—Another blow was struck at "flaming youth" and the "pagan ways of modern living" recently when a small group of students at Ohio State University put their heads together and decided that the younger generation at that institution was fast going to hades.

The students unanimously agreed that something should be done about it. So they organized and agreed to call their group "The Holiness League."

Combating bobbed hair, card-playing, theatre-going, dancing, petting, smoking and "worldly" dress are the objectives of the newly formed league.

None of the members of this society has bobbed hair, and to be eligible for membership, girls must at least have long tresses in the growing stage. This requirement is in accordance with the "crowning glory" of biblical fame.

This group frowns on attendance at theatres, declaring that 99.4-100 of the performances are based upon sex appeal. "Too," the league states that though university theatrical activities are not in themselves bad, they give training for a taste for the theatre which might, in time, prove degrading.

The society, says the Reverend Raymond Browning, advisor of the league, does not seek regulation and will not attempt to interfere with those believers not accepting its views. The purpose of the league, he states, is to "unite spiritual students in an active organization to carry out a doctrine of holiness."

Non-members of the league declare, will find life to be empty if genuine religious experience is enjoyed. And their idea of the proper way to spend a date is walking or automobile riding on traveled roads.

In reply to a recent editorial in The Ohio State Lantern, student daily, stamping the holiness organization as "useless and impractical," the league has issued a challenge to any scientist on Ohio State's campus to debate an evolution subject.

In the challenge, Rev. Browning declared that "the league will take the position that any sort of evolution is unbiblical, unscientific, and unchristian. The connection between men and apes exists only in plaster paris form in museums."

So far, the challenge has not been answered.

Samuel J. Williams, student in the Graduate school, believes that the movement will soon spread to national proportions. Recently, he went to the University of Chicago to investigate the attitude of the students with a view to establishing the same sort of organization at the Windy City institution. Within a year or two, the league hopes to have the movement adopted in the leading colleges and universities throughout the country.

On the same day that formation of the organization was announced, 10,000 pamphlets were distributed on the campus decrying the moral conditions at Ohio State.

Tract holders in which pamphlets were placed in some of the buildings were stolen by unidentified thieves. For a time, Williams refused to believe that the tracts were stolen by a prankster and gave out the statement that the act could have been done by nobody else except a member of a secret chapter of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism.

The league's adviser, Rev. Browning, claims that the movement is a forerunner of better moral conditions in all schools.

Every Building in Ohio

Property owners—individually and collectively—create the conditions which determine the cost of their fire insurance.

To establish Fire Insurance Rates for the various properties in your state in keeping with their individual conditions requires careful measurement and estimate of the fire hazards in practically every commercial building in Ohio.

The Ohio Inspection Bureau

Consider the task of surveying practically every commercial building in this state—with details of construction, occupancy, protection and exposure kept on file.

Even then you have an incomplete idea of the inspection and rating services involved in establishing fire insurance rates.

This is the job the Ohio Inspection Bureau performs with its extensive staff of trained engineers.

Engineering Standards and Laboratory Tests

Engineering standards published by the National Board of Fire Underwriters and researches and tests of the Underwriters' Laboratories pertaining to the strength and usefulness of materials and devices are available to the Ohio Inspection Bureau.

Should an owner desire to improve his property where standard conditions do not already prevail, information showing him how to do it will be supplied free of charge directly through his insurance agent or broker. Constructive work of this character results in reducing hazards.

A Free Service

The Ohio Inspection Bureau is constantly advising property owners and communities as to specifications for new buildings or changes in old ones—the installation of fire protective devices—community fire prevention programs—and all fire safety activities. All of this service is free.

Public use of these and other measures of conservation afforded by Stock Fire Insurance is a principal factor in the constant decline in the average fire insurance rate in this country for more than twenty years.

PLANE HITS WIRE, 3 DIE

High Tension Transforms Airplane Into Huge Torch—One Badly Injured.

YPSILANTI, Mich., April 14—An airplane which settled in a network of high tension electric wires and was transformed into a huge torch today had brought the electrocution of three men and serious injury to a fourth.

Attempting a landing at the airport here late yesterday, the plane swung too low and crashed into the power transmission cables. Hanging suspended, it broke into flames.

The death list: Levi Keppler, 24, teller of an Ann Arbor bank; Willard Clawson, 60, retired farmer of Ypsilanti; Harry Walters, 28, Ypsilanti airport mechanic. Pilot Leon Hanselmann, 24, was thrown clear of the plane by the impact.

Keppler, the only passenger, was electrocuted when he tried to leap from the cockpit where he was held prisoner. Walters was killed outright when he applied a chemical fire extinguisher in an effort to free Keppler. The current followed the stream of liquid. Clawson was killed when he sought to draw Walters' body from the tangle of wire.

'AG' SCHOLARSHIP TEST NEXT FRIDAY

O. S. U. Offers Four Years Tuition to Best Farm Students in State

COLUMBUS, April 14—Twenty free scholarships with a value of $240 each will be the prizes offered in the annual agriculture scholarship examinations to be held Friday, April 18, in high schools throughout Ohio. Girls as well as boys are eligible.

Winners of the scholarships will be entitled to tuition for a four-year course in agriculture at Ohio State university. The examinations are open to all seniors in the high schools of the state who will be graduated in June.

For the purpose of the examinations, the state is divided into four districts. Five scholarships will be awarded in each of the four districts.

Announcement of the winners of the scholarships is expected to be made about May 15. The scholarships were established by the university to interest high school graduates in the opportunities in agriculture as a profession.

Mrs. Clarence Grant of N. Scioto-st., who had an operation at Grant hospital, Columbus, two weeks ago, is showing improvement. It is expected that she may be able to return home the latter part of this week.

GROUP OF O. S. U. STUDENTS STRIKE AT FLAMING YOUTH

Columbus, O.—Another blow was struck at "flaming youth" and the "pagan ways of modern living" recently when a small group of students at Ohio State University put their heads together and decided that the younger generation at that institution was fast going to hades.

The students unanimously agreed that something should be done about it. So they organized and agreed to call their group "The Holiness League."

Combating bobbed hair, card-playing, theatre-going, dancing, petting, smoking and "worldly" dress are the objectives of the newly formed league.

None of the members of this society has bobbed hair, and to be eligible for membership, girls must at least have long tresses in the growing stage. This requirement is in accordance with the "crowning glory" of biblical fame.

This group frowns on attendance at theatres, declaring that 99.4-100 of the performances are based upon sex appeal. Too, the league states that though university theatrical activities are not in themselves bad, they give training for a taste for the theatre which might, in time, prove degrading.

The society, says the Reverend Raymond Browning, advisor of the league, does not seek regulation and will not attempt to interfere with those believers not accepting its views. The purpose of the league, he states, is to "unite spiritual students in an active organization to carry out a doctrine of holiness."

Non members of the league declare, will find life to be empty if genuine religious experience is enjoyed. And their idea of the proper way to "spend a date" is walking or automobile riding on traveled roads.

In reply to a recent editorial in The Ohio State Lantern, student daily, stamping the holiness organization as "useless and impractical," the league has issued a challenge to any scientist on Ohio State's campus to debate an evolution subject.

In the challenge, Rev. Browning declared that "the league will take the position that any sort of evolution is unbiblical, unscientific, and unchristian. The connection between men and apes exists only in plaster paris form in museums."

So far, the challenge has not been answered.

Samuel J. Williams, student in the Graduate school, believes that the movement will soon spread to national proportions. Recently, he went to the University of Chicago to investigate the attitude of the students with a view to establishing the same sort of organization at the Windy City institution. Within a year or two, the league hopes to have the movement adopted in the leading colleges and universities throughout the country.

On the same day that formation of the organization was announced, 10,000 pamphlets were distributed on the campus decrying the moral conditions at Ohio State.

Tract holders in which pamphlets were placed in some of the buildings were stolen by unidentified thieves. For a time, Williams refused to believe that the tracts were stolen by a prankster and gave out the statement that the act could have been done by nobody else except a member of a secret chapter of the American Association For The Advancement of Atheism.

The league's adviser, Rev. Browning, claims that the movement is a forerunner of better moral conditions in all schools.

WATERWAY PROGRESS

Congress has already gone on record as favoring the barge canal known as the Illinois Waterway, from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi. Now the chief of army engineers recommends that the federal government definitely take over the project and carry it to completion, and the House rivers and harbors committee approves.

The state of Illinois has appropriated $20,000,000 for the job, nearly all of which is already spent. The federal government, it is estimated, can complete the nine-foot channel for $7,500,000, and can maintain and operate it for $223,000 a year. It can be built from Lake Michigan with as little as 1,000 cubic feet of water, a second, which would not hurt lake levels.

It looks like a practical enterprise, in keeping with the enlarged views of the nation on internal waterway expansion. Any feasible plan for connecting and extending the two great inland systems of navigation, the Mississippi and the Great Lakes, will be of benefit to the whole country.

HIGHER POSTAGE

Postmaster General Brown is advocating that the first-class mail rate be raised from two cents to two and half cents. His purpose is to wipe out the $50,000,000 deficit in his department.

There is much to be said for the argument that the United States postoffice, like any other public utility, ought to pay expenses; though probably nobody can remember when it has done that. Congress is depended on regularly, year in and year out, to provide for the postal deficit.

If it really costs more to deliver a letter than two cents, and if the sender himself ought to pay the total cost, many will still question whether raising the rate is the way to meet the financial problem. The higher the postage, the fewer letters. And according to the well-known rule of business, the smaller the volume, the greater the cost per unit.

THUMBS DOWN ON THUMBERS

Resentment against thumb-jerkers grows. Maine has enacted a law making it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine and imprisonment, to beg an automobile ride. There are cities in Florida with similar regulations. Some of the other states are talking of legislating against the highway pest. It isn't mere annoyance, either.

"Any motorist who gives a hitchhiker a lift," says an automobile club secretary, "is taking his life in his hands. I always advise against it. It's a dangerous practice."

"Why, even girls can't be trusted when you have picked them up on the road. I have seen many cases where a beautiful flapper turns out to be a gun-girl bandit, with a pretty pearl-handled revolver. Then there are always the possibilities of an accident, with a civil suit growing out of it."

The "Donai Bible"

Donai is in northern France, and is important historically as the center of the political and religious propaganda of the exiled Polish Roman Catholics. In 1532 Philip II of Spain founded a university there, and in connection with it William founded an English college in 1538. Here the Donai Bible was prepared.

Chocolate is the Diet

Chocolate for eating is comparatively a modern development. As a beverage it has been used since the discovery of America. The Aztecs made a cold, frothy drink from cacao beans. It is only since 1700, however, that milk has been used in preparing the drink.

CAPITOLIZING HOME PRACTICE

"SHEIK'S WIFE"

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

SYNOPSIS.
ENROUTE to a friend's house, young and lovely Eve Reade, meets Kenneth Wilmer, famous artist. He persuades her to visit the Hollis, friends of his, before going on to her destination. She falls asleep on a divan to awake the next morning. Embarrassed for having spent the night, she leaves without saying good-bye. Ken visits her the following Sunday and tells her he loves her. Her friend, Mary, warns Eve they are unsuited for one another. Next day Eve meets Norwood O'Rell, the author. (NOW-GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER VII.

THEN Eve's eyes opened as wide as any girl's eyes possibly could, her mouth fell open as well for she was too astonished to live up to the dignity of her nineteen and a half years.

But the young man apparently saw nothing wrong about a set of teeth as even and white as hers despite the fact that her chin had dropped almost to the throat of the grass green frock. His lips went into a twisted, whimsical smile as he talked on:

"Or maybe dryads don't drink tea? Only dew from violet cups? wait a minute though—" He closed his eyes, counted solemnly up to three before he opened them again, peering rather anxiously. "Yes," he sighed, "You're there. Thought maybe you'd be only one of the things the sun does to that hedge sometimes, you're so goldy-green and all. You're not, by any chance," he demanded. "A GIRL? You know, honey, blood, child, fluff—that sort of thing? They breathe and eat, do you understand, and go around snatching—calps—male calps. Of course I don't see any about you anywhere."

She laughed finally, walked toward the rickety table, pressing her hands in a spasm of delight. "Of course I'm a girl! And I'll bet," she cried, "I know who you are. I'll just bet you're Norwood O'Rell. I'll bet anything you're Norwood O'Rell writing one of your perfectly scrumptious stories. I know it—I just know it!" she squealed.

He got up then, made a bow which laughed at her and at himself as well but still held something of dignity. "Discovered," he confessed. "After all these years—Which brings us back to the original point of argument, as it were. . . . Do dryads drink tea? And if so—well, there's 'Flowery Japan' in the larder and some silly little cakes with seeds in them. Not that I wouldn't try my own hand," he went on to explain, seriously. "But it's a heavy hand as you can see. Whereas tea—but no doubt you know how it is. Tea to be right must be coaxed—never pummeled. Wooded with the fervor of a sophomore's devotion, the craft of a prosecuting attorney, the lightness of a candidate's promise, the stealth of a jealous woman and the common sense of your great grandmother. That makes tea, so to speak; something to 'down climbing sorrow'—you remember King Lear?—and invoke the muse."

Eve shook with laughter though her eyes were puzzled. It seemed such a lot of intellect to waste upon herself—did he always talk this way? She decided to ask him, hoping he would not be offended. "You see it seems to me you ought to write all that down so it wouldn't be forgotten. Or is it just your way—I mean of letting people know what you think?"

"Only on Mondays when Lady of the gray threads at his temples—he must be more than thirty—and likeable. Taking everything for granted so—was this because he was a writer? Was it one of those "differences" Mary seemed to think so important?

She began, "Tell me, Mr. O'Rell—"

"Nory." He said this sleepily not removing his eyes from the ceiling.

"Well—"

"Nory is the name. To you."

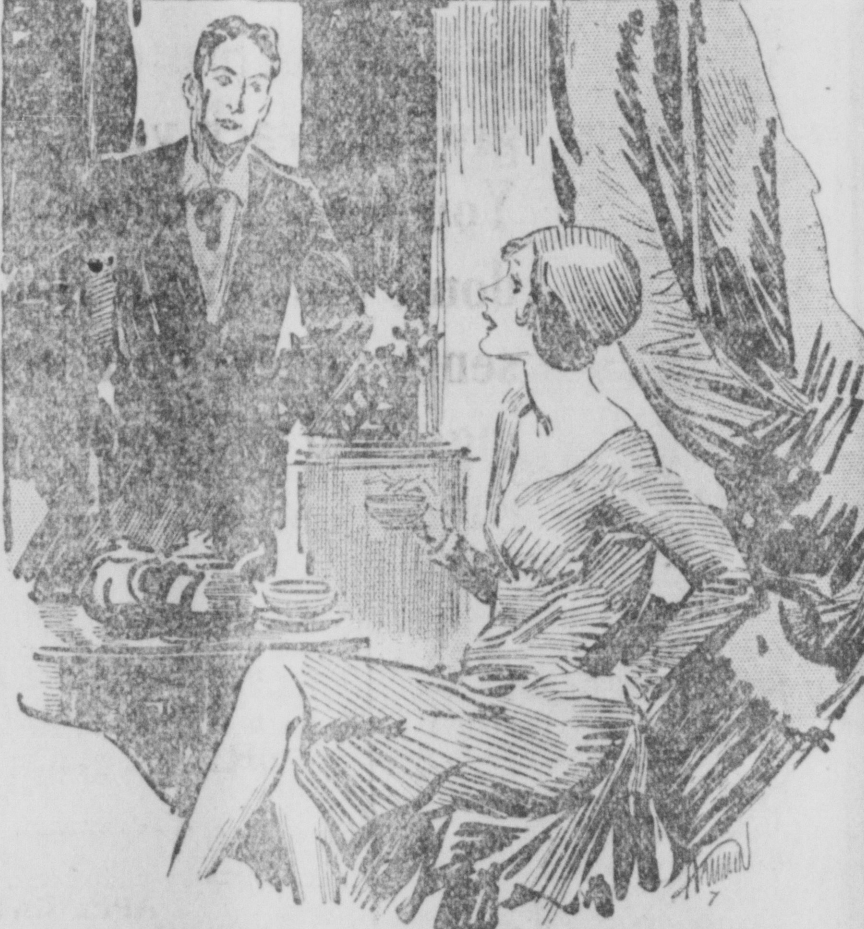

"What a nice person you are."

His lean shoulders moved in a slow shrug; he went on munching and sipping, staring at the ceiling.

"Tell me, Nory, are folks like you—you know, writers and artists—are they a lot different from folks like me? So we couldn't really be friends because we'd never actually understand each other?"

"Oh, I know," she hurried on, "there's a difference. How could you have written 'Sky Tents' for example, if you weren't different from me? But I mean—well, we're not like separate species are we? Far apart like vegetables and minerals—something like this—"

He brought his eyes down now

"Who's been talking rot to you, dryad?"

claring it to be all he had dreamed of and more, she glanced about the room wondering where he had picked up the quaint old pieces of furniture, the bits of pewter, the hooked rugs.

But her thoughts went back to O'Rell. He had managed to twist his long legs about his chair, which was tilted against the wall and he munched sandwiches and cake and sipped tea with a far-away look in his eyes, fixing them upon the ceiling as if he had forgotten her. She remembered all at once that he did not know her name; he had made no attempt to find out who she was. She had happened along, a strange girl in a green dress, and Norwood O'Rell had invited her to tea—and she was sitting and watching him while he thought of things beyond the horizon.

Healthy Hair Is a Matter of Care

Dr. Copeland Recommends Thorough Cleanliness and Daily Massage of the Scalp.

By R. S. COPELAND, M. D.
U. S. Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A WELL-GROOMED appearance is a distinct asset. It helps a lot in the social and business world today.

To look one's best is impossible without the utmost cleanliness and care of the person in every way.

Cleanliness and neatness in dress; a fresh and wholesome skin; healthy, shining hair, and vigorous good health, give a certain self-respect. All these things, too, influence other people in their good opinion.

One cannot look the best possible when the hair is neglected. The hair and scalp must be kept clean, just as is every other part of the body.

The scalp is supplied with blood which comes through the fan-like shaped formation of tiny blood vessels. These go to every part of the scalp. Every hair has its blood vessels. The growth and strength of each individual hair depends upon an unending blood supply.

Many persons are troubled with excessively oily hair and dandruff. The best treatment for dandruff is absolute cleanliness of the scalp. The hair should be washed every few days.

Don't let people tell you that the hair does not need frequent washing. It does certainly need to be kept just as clean as the body itself.

To correct excessive oiliness of the hair there should be used some pure, vegetable-oil soap and plenty of very warm water. The hair should be rubbed into the scalp and then the head is thoroughly rinsed. This treatment should be done a second time, the scalp being well massaged during the process. It should be given a final good rinsing or two.

By washing the hair in this way at least once a week and giving a daily massage of a few minutes to the scalp, the tiny blood vessels are stimulated and the tissues are nourished. After a few weeks of this sort of treatment, you are likely to see the last of the dandruff.

It is just as important that you wash hairbrush and comb at every shampoo. Bear this in mind, too. Dry hair calls for a daily massage with the finger tips for ten or more minutes, and an olive oil scalp shampoo once a week. The massage will stimulate the oil glands and blood vessels of the scalp.

Baldness in men is an ever-embarassing subject. It seems to "run" in some families. If the circulation is poor, the blood does not properly reach the extremities of the scalp. Wearing tight hats, as men do so commonly, is one reason for this trouble. A good hair tonic and massage will not improve the condition, it is an affliction that must be borne.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Filmdom's greatest "expert on being killed" plays a feature role in "Devil-May-Care," the new Ramon Novarro M-G-M musical romance which is at the Clifton Theatre.

He is John Miljan, "villain" of over a hundred photoplays, and before that the official "mean man" of stock companies in Boston, Philadelphia, Denver, Birmingham, Oakland, Richmond, Va., Superior, Wis., et al. He has been shot to death, clubbed, dropped in burning oil vats trampled by elephants, clawed by tigers, poisoned, shoved off cliffs, strangled, etc., almost without end. "Devil-May-Care" lets him off a little easier. He doesn't die, but he does have a terrific duel with the star. "Devil May Care" was directed by Sidney Franklin with Clifford Brooks as dialogue advisor. Other players include Marion Harris, Dorothy Jordan, William Humphrey, George Davis and Clifford Bruce.

AT THE METROPOLITAN

Their selection for the principal roles of "Her Private Affair," a Pathe all-dialogue production which is at the Metropolitan Theatre fulfills an ambition of three years' standing for Ann Harding, star, and Harry Bannister, who plays the leading man's role opposite her.

In private life, Miss Harding has been Mrs. Bannister for some three years, during which time she and her husband have always wanted to play together. The realization of their desires is said to be a very happy incident, for picture fans as well as for the couple themselves. Ann's golden loveliness is said to meet a perfect foil in the person of her handsome, six-foot dark-haired husband.

Co-incidentally enough, Miss Harding and Mr. Bannister play wife and husband in "Her Private Affair." The picture is dramatic and thrilling.

AT THE GRAND

The picture is distinctive in that the movement of the story and the musical sequences are naturally dependant and correlated.

Betty Compson, who has reached new heights through the medium of talking pictures, heads the cast of well-known players. This talented star possesses a rich, sweet voice and a wealth of dramatic power. Her role in "Street Girl" is regarded as the greatest characterization of her career.

High Court Frees Woman Who Got Life

Mrs. Etta Mae Miller, grandmother, once sentenced to life for violating the Michigan State prohibition law, has been assured continued liberty by a decision of the State Supreme Court. She had formerly been sentenced to life at the Detroit House of Correction, following her conviction for selling a "pint of liquor" in December, 1928.

BOUQUET IS STILL A BETTER GETTER

It Worked in Courting. Days And Now Works in the Orchard

Many a man can remember that a bouquet of flowers in his courting days got results. Whether he's now overjoyed with the results doesn't matter; he wanted them until he got them at least. And if he is now an orchardist, using bees in his orchards to ensure the proper pollination of his fruit blossoms, he can afford to take a leaf out of the book of his courting days and again get results with a bouquet of flowers.

The idea being that if the bees are located in a large block of self-sterile varieties of fruit, the work of going from blossom to blossom scattering pollen will do no good unless they have with them some of the pollen from blossoms of the proper cross-pollinating varieties. The way to supply this pollen is to hang bouquets of bloom from the cross-pollinating varieties, in the trees of the self-sterile varieties, says Virgil N. Argo, extension specialist in beekeeping for the Ohio State University.

It won't do any good, says Argo, to put the bouquets down on the ground near the hives, because the bees should encounter them in the trees on their regular honey-gathering flights.

The bees located in the orchard for this duty should be placed at equal intervals through the trees to be pollinated, not less than one hive to each acre of trees. They should be in place by the time the first or apical flowers of the bloom clusters are open.

Using bees for cross-pollinating fruit trees has been very successful in several Ohio orchards in the past two years.

Sectional Rain Dampens Baseball Openers

HURRY AND FLURRY AND ROAR TO GREET SEASON'S PREMIERE

Boston Red Sox, World's Champs For Day After Defeating Washington In Early Game—Philadelphia, Yankee Scrap To Draw Largest Crowd.

NEW YORK, April 15—With the hurry and flurry and roar that is so peculiarly its own, baseball's premier of the season will burst upon the national ear drum in eight major cities this afternoon in all the pomp and circumstance of a circus come to town. For this day only, glamor is king and he lives riotously for twenty-four hours. He dies gradually and at his own convenience exactly 154 days later.

A national institution, this opening day and its pageantry, and to a Neophyte, its taste has to be acquired. They say it grows on one. So does a wart. Anyhow the ceremony always is welcomed with great gusto and today there will be upward of $30,000 sitting on the Committee of Reception all the way from Boston at the eastern extremity to St. Louis, western outpost of the Major League Reservation.

EXPECT RAIN

Fickle Spring, however, may dampen enthusiasm here and there. It is liable to dampen the back of the neck almost anywhere. The general forecast is rather disquieting, as a matter of fact, yet the chances are good that at least a reasonable share of this Opening Day program will be observed.

American League—New York at Philadelphia; Washington at Boston; Cleveland at Chicago; St. Louis at Detroit.

The Senators and the Red Sox ran off something of a dress rehearsal of the official opening down in Washington yesterday, of suspense under which Boston had been laboring in its impatience to see this pair. They probably will play to the smallest crowd of the day this afternoon, should the weather be willing.

The forecast up that way is for cooler temperatures and threatening skies. In Philadelphia, where the world's champion Athletics are to meet their arch-challenger, the Yankees, showers may curtail the proceedings or altogether nullify them. This should be one of the big games of the day with the Yanks, under a new manager, attempting to beat the gun against the club that generally is held at the prohibitive price of 7 to 10 to repeat its 1929 victory in the pennant race. Grove or Earnshaw, the one-two pitchers of the club, probably will work for the Athletics against Phipps. This pair ought to play to capacity, which is about 38,000.

Superstition Lingers

Even in this day and age there are some people in England who believe in witches. Burning the Clavie, an ancient custom, of which the object is to free the inhabitants of the city from witches for another year, is still celebrated at Bingley. Blazing embers are carried through the town and flung through open doors of houses to burn up the witches.

And Get Bumped
"Stop Look and Listen" is all right, but many a fellow gets bumped as he stops to look.—Des Moines Tribune.

Ready to Represent U. of P.

William Kastler, of Lakewood, Ohio, practicing the start as he trains for the Penn relay games in which he will represent the University of Pennsylvania. Kastler's specialty is the quarter-mile run and he is expected to win that event on April 25th.

CHAMPION MECHANIC, RILEY BRETT, THRU WITH RACING

INDIANAPOLIS Ind., April 15—Racing's champion mechanic—four times the aide of Yankee speed champs—will not ride as driving aide to his pilot in the International 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in May, despite the fact that a change in rules insist that each driver carry a mechanic in the seat beside him.

He is Riley Brett, diminutive monkey wrench welder, who was in charge of the cars that carried Jimmy Murphy, Harry Hartz and for two years Louis Meyer to American championships.

"I'm getting the car ready," declared Brett who is master mechanic for Champion Louis Meyer, "but they'll have to get somebody else to ride the race with him. I'm through."

Brett, who has seen every 500-mile drive at Indianapolis and who had an active part in racing as early as 1915, made his last ride in 1922 the year before the tiny, one-man race cars became the vogue. In his last ride Brett was beside Peter De Paolo, when in the 110th lap the car smashed into a retaining wall. Neither De Paolo nor Brett were severely injured.

"It isn't because of that smash-up that I won't ride this year," explains Brett, "and it's not because I'm getting old (he is only 35) but they couldn't get me into a race car as riding mechanic for all the alfalfa in Iowa."

Brett certainly never was lacking in nerve as a riding mechanic, racing history shows. For many years he rode as a driving aide. Then he made the leap to the steering wheel of his own car. Usually after a mechanic has graduated to the driver's seat he never again is content to go back to the sport as riding aide. Not so with Brett. When his driving antics did not prove profitable, he started all over again.

He became mechanic for De Paolo and rode through several spirited events with Ralph De Palma's nephew, who later—in 1925—won the 500-mile race here, establishing a record of 101.13 miles an hour for the distance, which still stands.

"I just can't get into the proper mental attitude to ride again," says Brett. "For years I couldn't get enough of speed. But for the past seven years I've been forced by racing rules to get my thrills from the pit of the car on which I was working. Now I have lost all desire to whirl around the track at dizzy speeds."

"It looks dangerous now. It didn't use to. I guess it really isn't any more dangerous, except that the cars are moving a lot faster these days than they were. When I was riding and driving. But anyway I can't make up my mind to ride. And I'm not going to ride. And that's final."

So there is no other deduction. Meyer will start his first race in a two man car—Meyer having grown up in racing in the one man car era—without the company of Champion Mechanic Riley Brett beside him.

ELECT MEYER AT PICKAWAY

Athletics in Pickaway township will be just as tough in the next two years as they have in the last two according to an announcement Tuesday. Otto C. Meyer, Pickaway's popular coach, has been signed to serve two at that school with a salary of $1,875.

Provisionary Officer

A lance corporal is one with a provisional appointment without the pay of his permanent rank. When vacancies occur as corporals, the man who is considered for the appointment to such a vacancy is made a lance corporal with duties of corporal, but not the pay of a corporal. If he qualifies and makes good at this provisional appointment, he is made a regular corporal and his rank is confirmed with the pay of a corporal.

Sectional Rain Dampens Baseball Openers

HURRY AND FLURRY AND ROAR TO GREET SEASON'S PREMIERE

Boston Red Sox, World's Champs For Day After Defeating Washington In Early Game—Philadelphia, Yankee Scrap To Draw Largest Crowd.

NEW YORK, April 15— With the hurry and flurry and roar that is so peculiarly its own, baseball's premier of the season will burst upon the national ear drum in eight major cities this afternoon in all the pomp and circumstance of a circus come to town. For this day only, glamor is king and he lives riotously for twenty-four hours. He dies gradually and at his own convenience exactly 154 days later.

A national institution, this opening day and its pageantry, and to a Neophyte, its taste has to be acquired. They say it grows on one. So does a wart. Anyhow the ceremony always is welcomed with great gusto and today there will be upward of 300,000 sitting on the Committee of Reception all the way from Boston at the eastern extremity to St. Louis, western outpost of the Major League Reservation.

EXPECT RAIN

Fickle Spring, however, may dampen enthusiasm here and there. It is liable to dampen the back of the neck almost anywhere. The general forecast is rather disquieting, as a matter of fact, yet the chances are good that at least a reasonable share of this Opening Day program will be observed.

American League—New York at Philadelphia; Washington at Boston; Cleveland at Chicago; St. Louis at Detroit.

The Senators and the Red Sox ran off something of a dress rehearsal of the official opening down in Washington yesterday, of suspense under which Boston had been laboring in its impatience to see this pair. They probably will play to the smallest crowd of the day this afternoon, should the weather be willing.

The forecast up that way is for cooler temperatures and threatening skies. In Philadelphia, where the world's champion Athletics are to meet their arch-challenger, the Yankees, showers may curtail the proceedings or altogether nullify them. This should be one of the big games of the day with the Yanks, under a new manager, attempting to beat the gun against the club that generally is held at the prohibitive price of 7 to 10 to repeat its 1929 victory in the pennant race. Grove or Earnshaw, the one-two pitchers of the club, probably will work for the Athletics against Pipgras. This pair ought to play to capacity, which is about 38,000.

Superstition Lingers

Even in this day and age there are some people in England who believe in witches. Burning the Clavie, an ancient custom, of which the object is to free the inhabitants of the city from witches for another year, is still celebrated at Burghhead. Blazing embers are carried through the town and flung through open doors of houses to burn up the witches.

And Get Bumped

"Stop, Look and Listen" is all right, but many a fellow gets bumped as he stops to look.—Des Moines Tribune.

Ready to Represent U. of P. CHAMPION MECHANIC, RILEY BRETT, THRU WITH RACING

William Kastler, of Lakewood, Ohio, practicing the start as he trains for the Penn relay games in which he will represent the University of Pennsylvania. Kastler's specialty is the quarter-mile run and he is expected to win that event on April 25th.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 15—Racing's champion mechanic—four times the aide of Yankee speed champs—will not ride as driving aide to his pilot in the Indianapolis 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in May, despite the fact that a change in rules insist that each driver carry a mechanic in the seat beside him.

He is Riley, Brett, diminutive monkey wrench wielder, who was in charge of the cars that carried Jimmy Murphy, Harry Hartz and for two years Louis Meyer to American championships.

"I'm getting the car ready," declared Brett who is master mechanic for Champion Louis Meyer, "but they'll have to get somebody else to ride the race with him. I'm through."

Brett, who has seen every 500-mile drive at Indianapolis and who had an active part in racing as early as 1915, made his last ride in 1922 the year before the tiny, one-man race cars became the vogue. In his last ride Brett was beside Peter De Paolo, when in the 110th lap the car smacked into a retaining wall. Neither De Paolo nor Brett were severely injured.

"It isn't because of that smash-up that I won't ride this year," explains Brett, "and it's not because I'm getting old (he is only 35) but they couldn't get me into a race car as riding mechanic for all the alfalfa in Iowa."

Brett certainly never was lacking in nerve as a riding mechanic, racing history shows. For many years he rode as a driving aide. Then he made the leap to the steering wheel of his own car. Usually after a mechanic has graduated to the driver's seat he never again is content to go back to the sport as riding aide. Not so with Brett. When his driving antics did not prove profitable, he started all over again.

He became mechanic for De Paolo and rode through several spirited events with Ralph De Palma's nephew, who later—in 1925—won the 500-mile race here, establishing a record of 101.13 miles an hour for the distance, which still stands.

"I just can't get into the proper mental attitude to ride again," says Brett. "For years I couldn't get enough of speed. But for the past seven years I've been forced by racing rules to get my thrills from the pit of the car on which I was working. Now I have lost all desire to whirl around the track at dizzy speeds."

"It looks dangerous now. It didn't use to. I guess it really isn't any more dangerous, except that the cars are moving a lot faster these days than they were when I was riding and driving. But anyway I can't make up my mind to ride. And that's final."

So there is no other deduction Meyer will start his first race in a two man car—Meyer having grown up in racing in the one man car era—without the company of Champion Mechanic Riley Brett beside him.

ELECT MEYER AT PICKAWAY

Athletics in Pickaway—two school will be just as tough in the next two years as they have in the last two according to an announcement Tuesday. Otto C. Meyer, Pickaway's popular coach, has been signed to serve two at that school with a salary of $1,875.

Provisionary Officer

A lance corporal is one with a provisional appointment without the pay of his permanent rank. When vacancies occur as corporals, the man who is considered for the appointment to such a vacancy is made a lance corporal with duties of a corporal, but not the pay of a corporal. If he qualifies and makes good at this provisional appointment, he is made a regular corporal and his rank is confirmed with the pay of a corporal.

Couple Married For Fifty Years Have Anniversary Dinner

The celebration Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hess, of 925 S. Washington-st., marked the 50th anniversary of their marriage, which took place April 11th, 1880 near Chillicothe. Their children, relatives and friends were the guests present at the anniversary dinner, which was held in honor of the occasion. Among those present were three who had also been present at the wedding half a century ago. They were Mrs. Minnie Wadell of Chillicothe, Mrs. Arthur Blue of Amanda and John Turner of Delaware.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Hess was Miss Linnie Snyder of near Chillicothe. She is connected with Scheyer families, and is the last of her family. Mr. Hess is a native of Cassopolis, Cass-co. Mich. He has been a prosperous farmer, rebuilding and selling a number of farms in this vicinity. Before his health demanded that he retire, he was associated with Geo. W. Hartman in real estate.

Flowers, candy, gold pieces, and presents of many kinds were heaped upon the couple Sunday, in honor of the event.

Dinner was served at noon, cafeteria style from the dining room table, where a three tiered wedding cake and flowers were used for decorations. On the top tier, a modern bride and bridegroom, stood side by side, encircled by deep yellow festooning on the lighter yellow frosting of the wedding cake.

Mrs. Osie Heath, Mrs. Effie Mason, Miss Mildred Findley Mrs. Eddie Grayson, Mrs. Irene Knowles and Miss Helen Schofield, assisted with the preparation and serving.

During the afternoon photographs were made of the golden wedding couple, alone, and in groups with their children, grandchildren, and groups of guests.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Max Fuller and son Lloyd, of Cassopolis Mich., Mr. and Mrs. John Brunton and daughter Betty Jo, of South Bend Ind., Mr. and Mrs. C. Earl Hess and son David and daughter Judith of Mansfield, O., Mrs. Effie Mason and sons Les, Glen and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Schofield and daughter Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Grayson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knoles, Mrs. Minnie Wadell, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dennewitz, Mrs. Mary Hoggard, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pool, all of Chillicothe O.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blue, and daughter Helen of Amanda, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walcott of Westerville, O., Mr. and Mrs. Adam Reub of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. John Turner, and grandson Glen Shetz of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Keller of Delaware, O., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Markham and son Herbert of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle, and son Richard and daughter May of Westerville, Mr. and

AUDIENCE LIKES MUSIC PROGRAM

The musical program, presented Friday night at the Jackson-two high school was outstanding in this line of entertainment in the county schools. The entire program was music, ably directed and coached by Miss Elizabeth Umstead.

The group singing was especially popular with the audience, and the solo work of Franklin Price was extraordinary in a high school pupil. His solos in "Mandala", "Mother Machree", and "Indian Love Call", were high spots of the evening's program.

Not only was the training of the voices excellent but the selection of a program, showed originality, and a departure from the ordinary school program.

MRS. KEELER IS HOSTESS TO CLUB

Mrs. Vernon Keeler of 148 W. Franklin-st. had the role of hostess Monday night, to the members of her bridge club. Two substitute guests for the evening were Mrs. Glen Geib and Miss Emily Yates.

DENTIST AND WIDOW SHOT

Argument Precedes Near Fatal Shooting of Dayton Pair In Hospital.

DAYTON, O., April 14—Dr. G. W. Dancer, 52-year-old dentist, and a young widow, Mrs. Katherine Latham, aged 28, are in a critical condition in Miami Valley hospital here today as the result of what police declared was an attempted murder and suicide. Dr. Dancer, who had been estranged from his wife, went to the widow's home late Saturday night and after a heated argument, shot and probably fatally wounded her, and then turned the gun on himself, according to police. The dentist also swallowed some poison tablets, he told physicians at the hospital later.

Little hope is held for the recovery of the doctor. According to authorities, Dr. Dancer became separated from his wife about a month ago because, it is alleged, of his attraction to the widow. The woman and he are reported to have quarreled.

CAMPAIGN

For the benefit of those who do not understand the scientific terms in which this title is smothered, it is thus explained: "A case of pedal frigidity is simply a bad case of cold feet and there are some in this list of candidates who have been showing symptoms of this disease. However, there are others who are immune from the dread epidemic. Those who are immune are those who are walking after subscriptions to the Herald and absolutely refuse to become inoculated. Those having the poisonous germs in their system can get rid of them by getting out in the fresh air and going after subscriptions, which is the only way to win the cars or any other fine prizes."

Today Miss Louise Leonard goes to the top of the list. Miss Leonard has been at the top before and if all indications prove true she will make a strong contender for the machines when the grand final count is taken. Miss Leonard has strong competition in several hard working candidates, those who have not been hit with the "Cold Feet Germ" but who go merrily along day after day taking a subscription here and there and always making their hands stronger.

There are several people who profess to be friends of the different candidates who tell them every day how they hope they will win. How interested they are, and how hard they are pulling for them, etc. Such talk sounds good in church, but the vital question is: "How bad do you want to see them win?" "If you wish to see your favorite candidate land the prize (and you are telling them you do) do you want to see them win enough to give them a year's subscription? Don't be a piker, come across and help them to win."

The offer given below is smaller than at any previous time, yet amply large enough to enable any hustling candidate to win if they go after the bonus ballots hard enough. This offer lasts until the last day, April 23. Go in and win.

IS IT YOUR MOVE?

W. J. Ryan, affable mover of everything except heaven and earth, informs us he never was any good at checkers, but he is certainly been on the move this month. He says that slang expression "catch a load" must have been coined for him, as he's been catching more loads of furniture and household equipment than you can shake a stick at. Provided that you feel like shaking a stick at any rate, we are wondering—is it your move? Are you planning to make some other residence "Home Sweet Home?" If so please keep in mind that we have everything to help you make your new home more beautiful and livable. Living room suites, bedroom suites, rugs, linoleums, tables, chairs—well, we could go on indefinitely, but that would be silly.

Particularly when you can get in and see our complete display, items that will save you not only time and trouble, but a surprising amount of money, too.

Woman's place may be in the home, but with a new Estate Gas Range in the kitchen, many a housewife can enjoy these warm Spring days on the porch, sipping her pie, cake or biscuits and being baked perfectly in the Estate Fresh Air Oven. There's no need to work with an Estate, you know. Perfect results every time in less time, with less trouble, with less attention.

Spend a lot of extra money for food if you want to, let it spoil when warmer weather comes, but don't say we didn't tell you that a Kelvinator Electric Refrigerator preserves food indefinitely because it's as cold as a landlord's heart.

Ralph E. May: "I observe that you treat that gentleman very respectfully."

E. Barrer: "Yes, he's one of our early settlers."

May: "Early settler? Why, he's not more than 40 years of age."

Barrer: "That may be true, but he pays his bills on the first day of every month."

A woman may be taken for granted but she never goes without saying.

For that dark corner in your living room, try one of our Table Lamps. All varieties, with a complete selection of new shades. $3.75 and up.

Again, we remind you that a phone call will bring a new model Deo Vac Vacuum Cleaner out to your home for a Free Trial. We're selling lots of them, and you'll know what after you've had your demonstration.

First Look: "I've bin wondering how does a man get his own money out of a bank?"

Second Look: "Easy, He jess' takes his own name to de check."

A man who had just died, had left the care of Mark Twain. The man immediately stopped the rumor, saying the statement that the man's death was greatly exaggerated. So, we like that old humorist, wish to state that the rumor that the editor of RTT (Harry C. Stevenson) was recently checked out of Sheriff Davis' place.

BONER HANDY'S HINT

A strip of oilcloth sewed along the underside of each end of the small rug will prevent its slipping on the hardwood floors.

"hotel" on West Franklin St., after serving some time for lifting some chickens without the consent of the owner, is greatly exaggerated. We'll admit that we frequently "lift" chicken, but it is at the table.

Mrs. Farmer: Your attention is directed to the window of the room just west of our store. This room is owned by Mr. F. E. Brunner and is for rent. However, during the time that he is looking for a tenant, he has given us permission to display a gas range and Pyrofax equipment there. Look it over. Mrs. Farmer, and ask us to explain to you how you may have the pleasure of cooking and baking with gas, just as though you lived in the city. It's quick, clean, and cool in the summer. We'll be glad to tell you about it.

Speaking of Pyrofax we are reminded that a week or two ago, we mentioned the fact that a lady from New Holland came in to inquire about Pyrofax Gas Service. One day last week, she and her husband came in and signed a contract for this wonderful service for those residing beyond gas mains.

You'll remember, perhaps, that last week we invited you to call and see a beautiful twin-bed outfit in cherry? Well, it's too late now—it was delivered into a home in Circleville last week.

It's trellis time, folks. Don't forget that we are carrying a full line of them for sweet peas and other climbing vines. Prices? Cheaper than you can buy the lumber, build and plant them. Better drop in and see the various patterns.

Plain truth will influence half a score men at most in a nation, of an age, while mystery will lead millions by the nose—Henry St. John, Vincent Bonaparte (1678-1753), Letter.

Dinner was served at noon, cafeteria style from the dining room table, where a three tiered wedding cake and flowers were used for decorations. On the top tier,

Mrs. Osie Heath, Mrs. Effie Mason, Miss Mildred Findley Mrs. Eddie Grayson, Mrs. Irene Knowles and Miss Helen Schofield, assisted with the preparation and serving.

AUDIENCE LIKES MUSIC PROGRAM

The musical program, presented Friday night at the Jackson-twp high school was outstanding in this line of entertainment in the county schools. The entire program was music, ably directed and coached by Miss Elizabeth Umstead.

The group singing was especially popular with the audience, and the solo work of Franklin Price was extraordinary in a high school pupil. His solos in "Mandalay", "Mother Machree", and "Indian Love Call", were high spots of the evening's program.

Not only was the training of the voices excellent but the selection of a program, showed originality, and a departure from the ordinary school program.

MRS. KEELER IS HOSTESS TO CLUB

"DEVIL MAY CARE"

Wed.—Thurs. 'Sherlock Holmes'

It's trellis time, folks. Don't forget that we are carrying a full line of them for sweet peas and other climbing vines. Prices? Cheaper than you can buy the lumber, build and plant them. Better drop in and see the various patterns.

Speaking of Pyrofax, we are reminded that a week or two ago, we mentioned the fact that a lady from New Holland came in to inquire about Pyrofax Gas Service. One day last week, she and her husband came in and signed a contract for this wonderful service for those residing beyond gas mains.

You'll remember, perhaps, that last week we invited you to call and see a beautiful twin-bed outfit in cherry? Well, it's too late now—it was delivered into a home in Circleville last week.

Woman's place may be in the home, but with a new Estate Gas Range in the kitchen, many a housewife can enjoy these warm Spring days on the porch, while her pies, cake or biscuits are being baked perfectly in the Estate Fresh Air Oven. There's no guesswork with an Estate, you know. Perfect results every time in less time, with less trouble, with less attention.

Spend a lot of extra money for food if you want to, let it spoil when warmer weather comes—but don't say we didn't tell you that a Kelvinator Electric Refrigerator preserves food indefinitely because it's as cold as a landlord's heart.

DENTIST AND WIDOW SHOT

Argument Precedes Near Fatal Shooting of Dayton Pair—In Hospital.

DAYTON, O., April 14—Dr. G. W. Dancer, 52-year-old dentist, and a young widow, Mrs. Katherine Latham, aged 28, are in a critical condition in Miami Valley hospital here today as the result of what police declared was an attempted murder and suicide.

Dr. Dancer, who had been estranged from his wife, went to the widow's home late Saturday night and after a heated argument, shot and probably fatally wounded her, and then turned the gun on himself, according to police. The dentist also swallowed some poison tablets, he told physicians at the hospital later.

Little hope is held for the recovery of the doctor.

According to authorities, Dr. Dancer became separated from his wife about a month ago because, it is alleged, of his attraction to the widow. The woman and he are reported to have quarreled.

CAMPAIGN

For the benefit of those who do not understand the scientific terms in which this title is smothered, it is thus explained: "A case of pedal frigidity is simply a bad case of cold feet and there are some in this list of candidates who have been showing symptoms of this disease. However, there are others who are immune from the dread epidemic. Those who are immune are those who are walking after subscriptions to the Herald and absolutely refuse to become inoculated. Those having the poisonous germs in their system can get rid of them by getting out in the fresh air and going after subscriptions, which is the only way to win the cars or any other fine prizes.

Today Miss Louise Leonard goes to the top of the list. Miss Leonard has been at the top before and if all indications prove true she will make a strong contender for the machines when the grand final count is taken. Miss Leonard has strong competition in several hard working candidates, those who have not been hit with the "Cold Feet Germ" but who go merrily along day after day taking a subscription here and there and always making their hands stronger.

There are several people who profess to be friends of the different candidates who tell them every day how they hope they will win. How interested they are, and how hard they are pulling for them, etc. Such talk sounds good in church, but the vital question is: "How bad do you want to see them win?" "If you wish to see your favorite candidate land the prize (and you are telling them you do) do you want to see them win enough to give them a year's subscription? Don't be a piker, come across and help them to win.

The offer given below is smaller than at any previous time, yet amply large enough to enable any live hustling candidate to win if they go after the bonus ballots hard enough. This offer lasts until the last day, April 23. Go in and win.

IS IT YOUR MOVE?

W. J. Ryan, affable mover of everything except heaven and earth, informs us he never was any good at checkers, but he has certainly been on the move this month. He says that slang expression "catch a load" must have been coined for him, as he's been catching more loads of furniture and household equipment than you can shake a stick at. Provided that you feel like shaking a stick.

At any rate, we are wondering—is it your move? Are you planning to make some other residence "Home Sweet Home?" If so please keep in mind that we have everything to help you make your new home more beautiful and livable. Living room suites, bedroom suites, rugs, linoleums, tables, chairs—well, we could go on indefinitely, but that would be silly.

Particularly when you can drop in and see our complete display items that will save you not only time and trouble, but a surprising amount of money, too.
